Other

I have been editor at The Lemon Press, the award-winning satirical student magazine at the University of York, since 2017 and have been returned to the position until 2019, the 10th anniversary year. During my time as editor I have pushed the magazine towards including critical news coverage of various student bodies' activities, and secured an advertising deal to expand our print run to 2400 copies per issue, the largest print run in the magazine's history. I have also produced video content for the magazine that has had over 200,000 views. I primarily write satire, but have also write reports on activities at the students' union and other publications at the University.

I won the 2017-2018 York University Media Award for Best Writer.

I am on the Parochial Church Council of St Lawrence-with-St Nicholas, York, and am currently PCC Secretary, handling aspects of communication with community figures, companies, and diocesan offices for the Vicar and Churchwardens, as well as coordinating the PCC's meetings with agendas and minute-taking.
